DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 80-84 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 4 of U.S. Patent No. 6140200. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art that to hermetically seal the void region as claimed in the current application because the overlying metal comprising layer would act as such a seal.

In reference to claim 80, Eldridge claims a method comprising:

Providing a substrate (Claim 4, Col.9, line: 7);

Forming a sacrificial mass over the substrate (Claim 4, Col.9, line:8);

Forming a metal comprising layer over the mass (Claim 4, Col.9, line: 9) ; and

Subjecting the mass to conditions which transports a component of the mass into the metal comprising layer to form an alloy, and leaving a hermetically sealed void region between the metal comprising layer and the substrate (Claim 4, Col.9, lines: 10-15).

In reference to claim 81, Eldridge claims wherein less than all of the sacrificial mass is transported to the metal-comprising layer (See claim 7).

In reference to claim 82, Eldridge claims wherein substantially all of the sacrificial mass is transported to the metal comprising layer (See claim 8).

In reference to claim 83, Eldridge claims wherein the metal-comprising layer comprises one or more of vanadium, Ti, Ta, and iron (See claim 9).

In reference to claim 84, Eldridge claims wherein the metal comprising layer comprises one or more of Ti or Ta, wherein the component is carbon and wherein the component is alloyed as one or both of a metal-carbide and a solid solution (See claim 10).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 78-79 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Chiang et al ('548).

In reference to claim 78, Chiang teaches a method comprising:

Providing a substrate (Fig.1 (10));

Forming a sacrificial mass over the substrate (Fig.1 (18));

Forming a layer over the mass (Fig.1 (34)); and

Subjecting the mass to conditions wherein a component of the mass transports from the mass into the layer to form a mixture of the layer and the component (Col.2, lines: 25-35), and wherein transporting the component leaves an enclosed void region between the substrate and the mixture of the layer and the component (Fig.1 (void)).

In reference to claim 79, Chiang teaches wherein the layer comprises silicon nitride (Col.2, lines: 25-30).
